Facebook redesigns profiles, adds 'timeline'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - If you're looking for work at least 70 employers, 30 training providers and plenty of opportunities are expected to be at the largest job fair in the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys.

The OH-PENN Job Expo will be held at the Covelli Centre in downtown Youngstown from noon until 5pm on Thursday, September 22nd.

Turnout is expected to be stronger than ever this year because even as the unemployment numbers show a slight improvement there are plenty of people who have been unemployed for a substantial amount of time.

Mary Ann Kochalko, the Chief Operating Officer for Mahoning Valley's One Stop said, "I think you need to be realistic if you're going to attend. A few people are there to hire on sight, but there's more things involved than hiring at that time. But you can make the contact there and see an employer face to face."

Kochalko says production jobs, health care supportive services, material handling, engineering and tax preparation will be among the career opportunities available.

One Stop in Boardman will be open Wednesday for anyone who needs to update
